How your business works

THE BUSINESS IN ONE PARAGRAPH

A fancy store holds thousands of small, low-value items — hair clips, toys, gifts, cosmetics — with trends and offers changing every week. Margin comes from offers like "any 3 for ₹120" and from selling to both retail and wholesale buyers, so the software must handle offers, price groups and many counters easily.

A DAY IN YOUR SHOP · THE WORKFLOW WE BUILD AROUND

- 1 Buy in bulk packs; break into single sellable items
- 2 Label items; quick-add new items on the counter itself
- 3 Offers and combos configured (any 3 for ₹120, buy 2 get 1)
- 4 Billing at multiple counters, retail or wholesale price group
- 5 Festival and gifting season stock top-up
- 6 Review fast movers and clear dead stock every month

WHERE GENERIC SOFTWARE FAILS YOU

Offers are manual

Combos like "any 3 for ₹120" are worked out by the cashier and often go wrong.

Thousands of tiny items

Without quick-add and labels, new items never reach the stock list.

Retail and wholesale mix

The same item at different rates for different buyers is hard to manage.

Our approach: we map this workflow first, then design every screen, rule and report around it — nothing extra, nothing missing.
